Massive Power Failure Paralyzes N.Y.'s Midtown

NEW YORK (AP) — A massive power failure, the second in less than two years, hit five square miles of midtown Manhattan Tuesday. It started with the evening rush hour and spread chaos from skyscraper peaks to subway depths for 4½ hours on the hottest day of the year.

Millions were inconvenienced—on streets, in the subways, in their homes, offices, restaurants, hospitals, hotels, theaters. There were no reports of casualties, however.

Riders were trapped in elevators for up to three hours, to emerge shaken and dripping with perspiration. Passengers were stranded below ground on subways where, in the words of one patrolman, "It was like a steam bath."

Times Square's brilliance was donned their swimming togs and headed for the cool water. All that's needed to make it seem like a New York beach are the jellyfish and the thrill rides.

Leftists Protest Visit

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Leftist demonstrators Tuesday night smashed plate glass windows of the U.S. Information Agency in protest against the presence here of Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The outburst, a few hours after Stevenson's arrival from Paraguay, involved about 30 banner-carrying demonstrators demanding that President Kennedy's special envoy go home.

The flareup was the worst of Stevenson's 18-day South American tour.

Stevenson was attending a dinner in his honor at the U.S. Embassy when the group rushed the USA building several miles away. They used long poles to shatter the windows.

U.S. Embassy officials blamed the incident on Communists.

Stevenson on his arrival announced that Paraguay's strong man President Alfredo Stroessner has promised to hold free elections that would be open to all Paraguayans at home and abroad.

President Kennedy's special envoy flew here for a two-day visit from Paraguay where he spoke bluntly to Stroessner, who is considered South America's only remaining dictator.

Stevenson hinted to Stroessner that more U.S. aid would be forthcoming if he restores democratic procedures.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations stressed the importance of political reforms by meeting with representatives of Paraguay's opposition parties and through a radio statement in which he expressed concern over the Paraguayan situation.

A Visit To The Zoo

Tot, Fighting Off Cancer, Is Granted His Only Wish

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — They took little Johnnie Dougherty to the zoo Tuesday.

It was a sad, glad hour for the four-year-old boy who knows he's very ill, but doesn't know why.

More deeply moved than they dared to let on, the grownups spoke brave words, determined that as few shadows as possible be cast on this day toward which Johnnie yearned for so long.

Cancer compelled the amputation of the boy's left leg last December. Disease has cost him the sight of his left eye.

But if the body has withered, something inside has not. This something has kept alive a kind of buoyancy. It lets the boy mask pain with smiles when his mother, Elizabeth, mother of five others, fusses over him, fighting back the tears.

Lovers Of Animals

A lover of animals since he first was able to name one, Johnnie talked day after day, week after week of going to the zoo.

He rattled off all that he wanted to see—the turtles and snakes, the ducks and donkeys, the antics of the monkeys and the graceful nuzzling of the ponies.

"When he is strong enough to stand on crutches," said Mrs. Dougherty, "then we'll try to let him see the zoo."

So in 90-degree heat Johnnie rode to the zoo in an ambulance, sleeping part of the way. He was moved into a wheelchair and taken slowly around the special section for children, which with special touches of color and comic char-

Blonde Entices Him

Charge Embassy Officer As Spy For Red Poland

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents arrested foreign service officer Irvin Chambers Scarbeck Tuesday on charges of spying for Communist Poland. "A Polish blonde seduced him and then blackmailed him," one report said.

Scarbeck, 41, was arrested on a Washington street. He had returned a week ago from his post as second secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw.

The Justice Department, in announcing the arrest, said Scarbeck had admitted turning over classified information to an agent of Poland since the beginning of this year. But the department gave no details about the information or the agent. There were some indications the information was of a political rather than a military nature.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen:

"It's a very sad and distressing development. I understand the root of the trouble was a woman. I was informed a Polish blonde seduced him and then blackmailed him."

Fulbright had been briefed, evidently by the State Department, before the government announced the arrest of Scarbeck.

State Department press officer Lincoln White implied that the information transmitted to Poland was important.

Asked if the case was of major importance, White replied: "Any espionage is of major importance."

"I do not think the case would have gone to the Justice Department if U.S. security had not been involved," White added.

If convicted, Scarbeck could be sentenced to 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

The Justice Department, in its complaint filed before U.S. Commissioner Sam Wertlieb, said Scarbeck admitted communicating information that was classified "as affecting the security of the United States."

Scarbeck has been assigned to the embassy in Warsaw for the past 2½ years. His duties included maintenance of U.S. government property, requisitioning of supplies and equipment, and arranging for travel of embassy personnel.

Would Think Not

Asked whether Scarbeck had responsibility for caring for the embassy files, a State Department spokesman said, "I would think he did not."

But although his duties were largely housekeeping chores, Scarbeck, like most foreign service officers, had some access to classified material.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Scarbeck attended the College of the City of New York and New York University from 1936 to 1939. He did not receive any degrees.

He has been married twice. His first wife was Doris L. Whaley of Lynbrook, N.Y. They were married in 1941 and had one daughter, now 15. The marriage was annulled in 1949.

In 1952, Scarbeck married Mechtild von Roth of Germany. They have three children — a 5-year-old daughter and twin sons, almost 3 years old.

Scarbeck joined the State Department in 1952.

Disarmament Parley Will Open Monday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union and the United States will start talks in Washington next Monday aimed at setting up another round of disarmament negotiations.

Western officials, disclosing this Tuesday, said Valerian Z. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, and John J. McCloy, director of the U.S. Disarmament Administration, will meet at the State Department.

The two are to discuss the time, the place and the makeup of a committee for resumption of disarmament negotiations, which broke down last June 27 with a Soviet walkout on a 10-nation East-West group in Geneva. Their agenda was agreed upon here last March by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson.

However, disarmament experts here said they expect Zorin to introduce Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's recent proposal that Geneva talks for a nuclear test ban be merged into the intended negotiations on general disarmament.

France Breaks Algerian Talks

Plan Would Boost Benefits, Duration And Payroll Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress Tuesday to strengthen the nation's unemployment compensation system by boosting benefits, their duration and the payroll taxes needed to finance them.

Kennedy said the bottom of the recession has been passed but there still are 4.3 million Americans unemployed, with 900,000 of them idle more than six months.

However, the long-range character of his proposals — broadest suggested by any administration since the insurance system was established by the Franklin D. Roosevelt New Deal — indicated few of the current unemployed could benefit from the plan.

Most of Kennedy's proposals wouldn't go into effect for several years, some not until 1968. They contemplate a thorough overhaul of the 26-year-old program to give jobless workers more money for longer periods of time. The aim appeared to be to shore up the system for future economic downturns.

No Estimate

There was no immediate estimate of the proposed additional payroll tax cost. But it was indicated it would run well over $1 billion annually.

There is now a special added federal tax on employers to finance temporary extra unemployment ment benefits. The estimated yield is about $60 million a year. It was proposed that this special tax, due to be collected in 1962 and 1963, would be continued permanently thereafter.

Kennedy also proposed increasing the wage base for the payroll taxes from the first $3,000 of wages, now in effect, to the first $4,800. This is the wage base of Social Security taxes.

The President also proposed that the present temporary recession system of giving workers an additional 13 weeks unemployment payments, on top of the regular state benefits they draw — usually 26 weeks — be made a permanent thing for steady workers thrown out of jobs.

This is a tool aimed at helping those workers with a long work history whose jobs are suddenly taken over by machines with the advance of automation.

Also, Kennedy asked for White House authority to start the 13-week extra unemployment benefits for all idle workers during future recessions.

Another Innovation

Another innovation would be that the federal government would take over two-thirds of the extraordinary costs of individual states in meeting benefit costs in periods of economic stress.

Starting in 1964 about 3.5 million new workers would be brought under the insurance system. These are workers of certain small employers, various salesmen and shop operators working on commission, and agricultural processing workers.

States would be required to increase benefits. An individual worker would be entitled to at least half his former regular wage, up to fixed maximum amounts. These maximums would be raised, too. Moving to at least half a state's average weekly wage in 1964-66, 60 per cent of the state average in 1966-68, and to 65-73 per cent after Jan. 1, 1969.

This would bring the benefit level more in line with actual wage levels. At present, maximum allowances benefits in 46 states are below half the state average wage level.

The proposed new federal standards for the states would be enforced by denying employers tax credits they now enjoy if a state refused to go along.

Recovery Is Seen As Job Figures Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment and working hours mounted steadily in May to put the nation more firmly on the road to economic recovery.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported Tuesday detailed job figures for May. They showed a sharp pickup in heavy industry, particularly in autos and steel. This was the sector hit hardest by the recent recession.

Goldberg at the same time cautioned that both unemployment and the number of workers unemployed four months or longer remain at extremely high levels. The factory work week, a prime indicator, jumped more than is normal for this season, from an average 39.3 hours in April to 39.6 hours in May. It was the fourth straight monthly increase. This means there is more work to do in the factories for those with jobs.

The increase in hours, together with an average one-cent hourly increase in factory earnings, boosted weekly earnings to $32.66, a record. The figure topped the old mark of $32.29 set in January 1960.

The average factory work week has risen nearly a full hour since last January, although it still is a bit below the level of a year ago.

100 Types Of Assistance To Promote Communities

HAZLETON — More than 100 types of assistance are available from federal sources to assist communities promote growth, Victor C. Diehm, president, Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission, notified regional communities yesterday.

He said a very comprehensive list is contained in the publication, "Handbook of Federal Aids to Communities" which describes new federal programs undertaken to spur the lagging economy, and help localities suffering from chronic unemployment.

The handbook details the nature of the assistance to local communities in four broad categories either through new programs or by extension of programs already in operation.

Different Aids

Diehm listed the aids as:

Financial — Grants and other funds that may cover all or part of project costs, loans, insurance and distribution programs;

Technical — Advice, consultation, research and surveys;

Construction — Both civil and public works and facilities; Procurement — Both goods and services.

Secretary of Commerce William R. Davlin strongly recommends that all communities scan this list as a supplemental to state programs which are well known throughout Pennsylvania, according to Diehm.

The NPIDC official said that functions of the Area Redevelopment Administration, established recently in the federal Department of Commerce to deal with the problems of labor surplus areas, are described at some lengths as are the collateral services in this effort which will be furnished by a bracket of federal agencies.

Copies of the handbook may be obtained from the two United States Senators Joseph S. Clark and Hugh J. Scott, or from any regional congressman.

Retirement Advice On SS Benefits

IF YOU have reached retirement age (65 for men and 62 for women) and have never inquired about social security benefits because you are still working, you should talk to a social security representative right away, Harry R. Peterman, Manager of the Easton District Office, advises.

Because of a 1960 change in the law, a great number of older people whose earnings were high enough to keep them from collecting social security benefits, will now be able to receive some benefits during the year.

Up until this year, social security beneficiaries who earned more than $1200 in a year lost one month's social security benefits for each $80 of earnings in excess of $1200. Under the new law, only $1 benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings in excess of $1200 and up to $1500. Thus, the beneficiary who earns exactly $1500 would lose $150 in benefit payments.

For earnings above $1500, benefits are reduced $1 for each $1 in earnings.

Peterman invites anyone who is now or retirement age and who has not previously asked for information about his rights, to contact the social security office located at 204 Northampton Street, Easton, Pa., or at the Stroudsburg Boro Hall any Tuesday or Thursday morning.

It Was Hot: Main Street Exploded

IT GOT SO hot in downtown Stroudsburg yesterday afternoon that the main street blew up. Well, part of it anyway!

Under a steady, blazing sun a portion of the Main Street near Sixth reached its boiling point and blew its top. The intense heat — just a sweatdrop away from the 100 degree mark — played havoc with the concrete base of the macadam road. The concrete yearned to expand in any way possible but found its only way out was up.

The sizzling materials formed a huge bubble then burst, heaving its rocky elements in despair.

The State Department of Highways repair crew — short one man who had also withered under the boiling heat during the day — rushed to the scene and applied some comforting needs to the wounded street.

More of this "street bursting" is due, a highway official reported. One likely spot, he said, was at S. Courtland Street in East Stroudsburg. Every indication of another eruption are evident there.

The highway crewmen were repairing the damage late yesterday afternoon during a "cooler" 90 degree temperature.

The damage? Who knows? It was too darn hot to check it out.

PUC Okays Drop Of Area Toll Charges

THE PUBLIC Utility Commission yesterday authorized the Bell Telephone Co. to eliminate a 15-cent toll between Stroudsburg and the Bushkill, Mount Pocono and Cresco exchanges June 28.

The company also got permission to drop a 10-cent toll between the Cresco and Mount Pocono exchanges in Monroe and Pike counties.

In addition, Bell will raise the regular monthly charges in the Mount Pocono, Cresco and Bushkill exchanges where it said a cross-section of subscribers approved elimination of the toll and increased monthly bills. No change is made in monthly Stroudsburg charges.

Bell estimated that the 10,886 subscribers in the four exchanges will save $31,000 in tolls annually as contrasted with an additional $20,500 yearly from the higher monthly bills in the Mount Pocono, Cresco and Bushkill areas.

The largest toll saving—$21,825—will be in the Stroudsburg exchange which has 8,221 subscribers. Other toll savings: Mount Pocono, with 1,251 subscribers, $15,893; Cresco, with 1,119 subscribers, $10,401; and Bushkill, with 295 subscribers, $2,911. These are the monthly increases in the latter three exchanges:

Residence — Single line, from $3.75 to $4.25; two-party, from $3 to $3.20; multi-party, from $2.50 to $2.70. Four-party lines available only in Mount Pocono also will go from $2.50 to $2.70. Business—Single line, from $3.75 to $7.55, and multi-party, from $3.75 to $4.75.

He married Ruth Blackburne Hart, June 2, 1934. They have three children: Mrs. Ruth Woodward Ottaway Sherer; James Haller Ottaway Jr., a reporter on the Danbury, Connecticut, News-Times newspaper; David Blackburne Ottaway, a student at Harvard University.

The honorary degree was conferred by Hartwick College President Frederick M. Binder in connection with the graduation of the class of 1961.

of talented boys and girls to serve as leaders in the program.

Swimming Plans

Other suggestions included the formation of a swimming committee for next year to stimulate growth in the sport and also the organization of an adult learn-to-swim program at the Y, similar to the ones conducted for youngsters.

Monthly reports were given by John R. Wilson, general secretary, showing a wide range of activities during the past year. The association is now moving into the Summer camp program under the direction of Jack Chapman, physical director.

J. L. Cohen reported that, despite the record membership, revenues for the first five months of 1961 are $1,189 behind budget and expenses are $2,039 more than anticipated.

In this connection, a representative of the State YMCA strongly urged that a cost study be made to determine exact figures on the cost of all services offered by the association.

He contended that some rates do not reflect the increased costs resulting from inflation, and therefore the association can expect deficits in the future unless steps are taken to correct the situation.

W. C. G. Peterson presided at the meeting, which followed a joint dinner session with members of the YMCA Auxiliary and the Mothers Club.

Eastburgers To Attend Music Event

WILLIAM STINE, Angelina Silis, and Robert Posten have been selected by the music teachers of East Stroudsburg High School to attend the Chamber Music Festival held at Tamiment this Friday through Monday.

Tamiment has made the Pocono Art Center the beneficiary of the series.

Angelina Silis is a member of the ESHS Chorus and Chocoleers, Robert Posten is a member of the band, and William Stine will make music his career, training to be a teacher in college.

Guests Of Center

These students are guests of the Pocono Art Center whose primary goal is to find and assist the development of artistic talent in youth of the community.

These goals, as well as the program outlined by the Art Center to build and maintain a cultural center where all the arts may be practiced, are the basis of plans by the Board of Directors.

An interview with these students will be broadcast by station WVPO Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Veterans' Membership Hits 1,030

MEMBERSHIP of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was reported at 1,030 by Lawrence Savercool, membership chairman, at last night's meeting.

The post lauded its Little League team and its coaches, Ray Davies and Stephen A. Stolsinski, for the record it has compiled so far this year and pledged support for a dinner to be held July 29 to raise funds to finance the trip of two Monroe County members of the Legion of Valor to the national convention at Miami Beach, Fla.

It was announced the post will take part in the Flag Day program to be held at the Elks Club in East Stroudsburg at 7 p.m. today.

The post also praised the three local members who are officers of the 29th District, headed by Post Commander Robert Hachtman, who is district junior vice commander.

Tokyo Headcount

TOKYO (AP) — Tokyo reports the May 1 population was 9,857,818 made up of 5,090,698 males and 4,767,210 females.

Let's Display The Flag

The American Flag failed to receive much recognition from Monroe Countyans on Memorial Day. Only scattered homes and business places displayed Old Glory during the patriotic holiday.

The reasons for public apathy toward such a fine and meaningful gesture as showing our colors are difficult to understand.

Is it that we are too lazy or too busy to put the flag outside where everyone can see and honor it? Are we too complacent to bother about showing our colors? Or can it be that we are too poor to afford a new flag to replace our old and tattered 48-star emblem?

Everyone who believes in Democracy as the best form of government and in the United States as the best country in the world should be proud and eager to fly Old Glory on every possible occasion.

Labels And Illusions

The following is one Senator's comment on the view that only vastly increased Government deficit - spending can restore full employment and take up the alleged "slack" in the economy: "... the Federal Government ran heavy deficits for 10 consecutive years from 1931 through 1940. These deficits averaged 4% of the gross national product. But unemployment was not reduced below 14% — twice the present level—during the entire 10-year period. "Comparable Federal deficits today with our $500 billion economy would be a mammoth $20 billion per year, a gigantic $200 billion in 10 years. As a practical matter, this policy is simply not going to be sold to the Congress or the people of the United States... When the country is at peace and incomes are at a near-record high, prudent men will not adopt a policy that argues for additional deficits as good

Such a day is here. Today is Flag Day by presidential proclamation. It is a legal holiday in Pennsylvania and is observed by veterans' organizations, the Elks, P.O.S. of A. and a few other groups—but, unfortunately, not by too many people.

The least we can do is to display the American Flag on this day in recognition of the many freedoms, rights and privileges we enjoy under the Stars and Stripes.

We can go even further and say a prayer of thanks to Almighty God for allowing each of us to be a part of this great and free nation at a time when so many people of the world are enslaved by atheistic dictators.

We are inwardly proud to be Americans. Let us show our love of country by displaying the Flag on its day today.

things in themselves."

Some may suppose that these remarks come from a conservative or even a "reactionary," which is the way the more zealous proponents of deficit-spending describe their critics. But in fact the opinions belong to Democratic Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, generally regarded as a "liberal."

We don't imagine for a moment that liberals in general are coming around to a conservative position on Federal fiscal policy. Quite the contrary. Nonetheless, Senator Proxmire's statement does suggest that plitital tags like "liberal" and "conservative" don't have to determine the outcome of the debate on the nation's economic future.

The surest guide is not one's political preconceptions, but the common sense to see the real dangers in the illusory benefits of massive deficit-spending.

Reports From Congress

More National Parks

Washington — Growing America may soon have more public space for rest and play.

Congress is expected to authorize this year establishment of at least one or two new national parks. Thirty now exist, mostly in the West.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee told Congressional Quarterly, "we hope to put four park bills through the Senate in the next few weeks establishing new seashore parks at Cape Cod, Padre Island, Texas and Point Reyes, Calif., and the Great Basin National Park in Nevada. We are studying park possibilities in many other states."

Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo.) of the House Interior Committee said he expected his Committee to approve legislation authorizing the establishment of Cape Cod national seashore park and perhaps one more seashore park.

President Kennedy urged Congress on Feb. 23 to expand Federal recreation areas. He asked for the establishment of Cape Cod, Padre Island and Point Reyes as new national seashore parks this year.

"Big Ideas" — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said Jan. 24 the Administration has "big ideas" in terms of expanding Federal recreation areas. Director Conrad L. Wirth of the National Park Service April 24 said the Administration was thinking of adding "as many as 25 new national parks" to the National Park System.

Udall May 12 said that he wants to set aside "perhaps 15 or 20 million acres for national parks, another 2.5 million acres for national recreation areas, more than a million acres for national parkways and scenic roads and 4.5 million acres for wildlife refuge areas."

Congress has created only two new national parks in the past 14 years. There are presently 183 national parks, monuments, parkways, battlefields, historic sites, memorials and cemeteries comprising about 24 million acres of land within the National Park System.

The major need is to provide recreation areas near heavily populated urban centers. Only seven of the 30 national parks and only a fraction of the national park system lie east of the Mississippi River, where the bulk of the population lives.

Most Proposed Areas in West—Although Udall has consistently talked about the necessity for providing more parks in the East, most of the areas being proposed for inclusion in the National Park System are in the West.

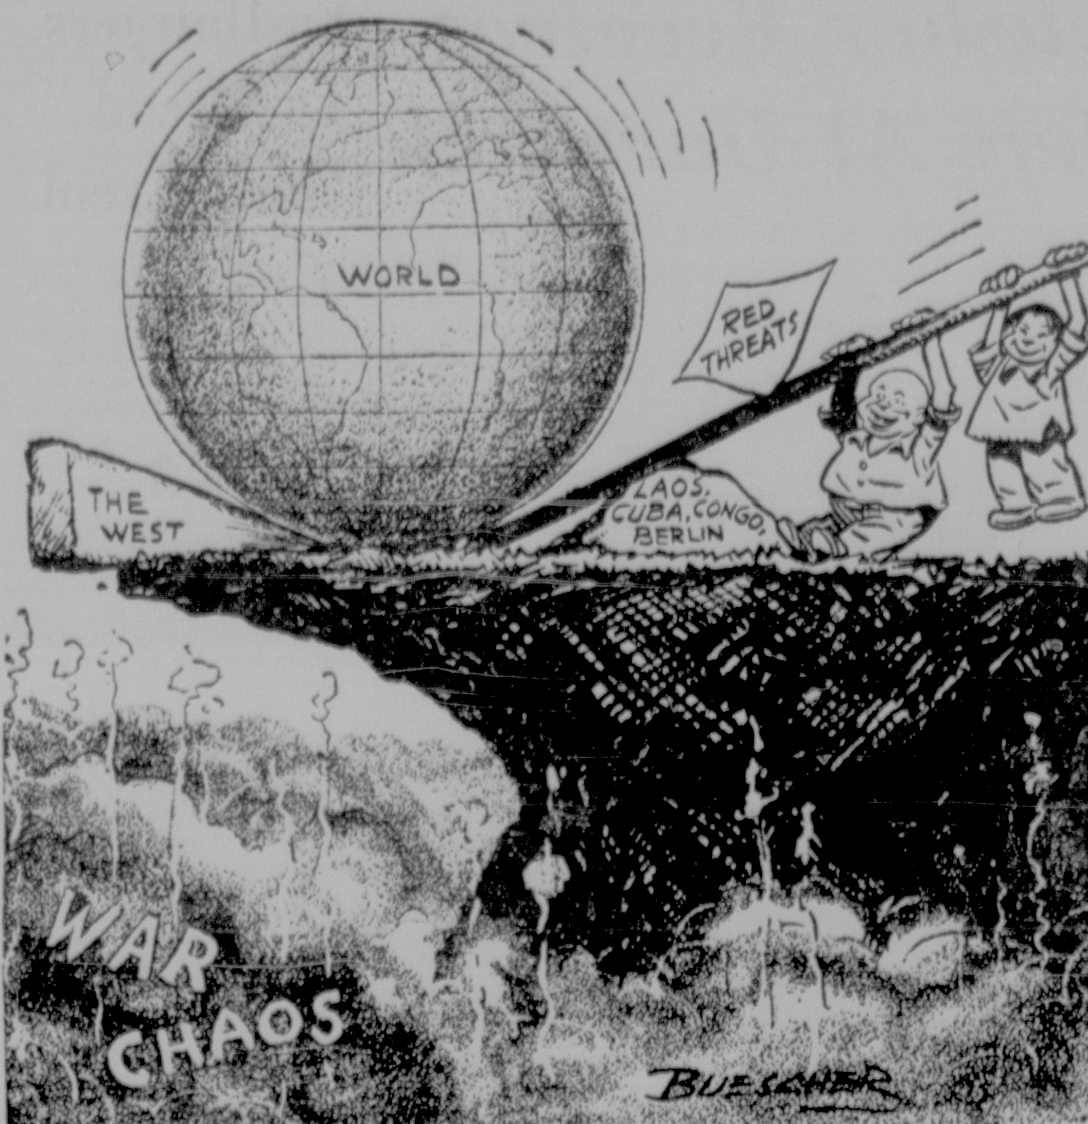

The Department of Interior recently recommended the establishment of Cape Cod, Padre Island, Point Reyes and the Oregon Dunes as national seashore parks, a Prairie National Park in Eastern Kansas, and the Ozark River areas in Missouri as a national monument.

Other areas known to be under consideration for inclusion in the National Park System include Cumberland Island, Ga.; the Alagash River region in Maine; the Sawtooth Range in Idaho; Ozark River areas in Missouri; the Northern Cascades in Washington; Sea Lion Caves in Oregon; Great Salt Lake, Rainbow Bridge and the Needles area, all in Utah; Huron Mountains, Pictured Rocks, Grand Sable Dunes and Sleeping Bear Dunes, all in Michigan; the Indiana Dunes; Pigeon Point, Minn.; an Ice Age national park in Wisconsin; Tocks Island, north of the Delaware Water Gap in Pennsylvania, and new park possibilities in West Virginia, Colorado and New Mexico.

Aspinall questions the wisdom of greatly expanding the park system in the West. "The big need for new park and recreation areas is in tracts of 2,000-10,000 acres to provide recreation areas for Eastern urban areas," such as New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago, he said.

But Anderson believes that all areas worthy of inclusion within the National Park System should be bought up now by the federal government — while they can still be had, because growing population is putting land at a premium.

Last year 72 million visits were made to areas in the National Park System, when U.S. population numbered more than 180 million. It is estimated by park experts that 238 million visits will be made to the park system by year 2000, when the population is expected to total more than 360 million.

The Pennsylvania Story

Fiscal Trouble

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's taxpayers whose own personal budgets have the revolting habit of going awry can perhaps take solace — for whatever it's worth — from the fact that they are by no means alone; even their fair Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can't keep its fiscal house in order!

This in itself actually is nothing new. Pennsylvania in recent years seemingly has had a penchant for dipping too deeply into the fiscal pot.

When Governor Lawrence during the past week however revealed that Pennsylvania wound up in the red to the tune of $33,227,861 (and 41 cents) at the end of the two-year biennial fiscal period June 1, the incident was of more than breezy interest in several respects.

In the first place, perhaps no chief executive more than Mr. Lawrence has espoused the determination to make Pennsylvania's fiscal ends meet; the administration would cut the cloth to fit the beast; there will be no fiscal hangovers in this administration, etc.

Repeatedly granddaddy Lawrence stressed the point to his children (here on Capitol Hill). In fact it almost became a fetish — and in actuality, not a bad one at that if it could only be carried out.

But despite the great effort of mice and men, the well-made-meet plans of the Democratic Lawrence Administration went awry. Alas, as Dr. David H. Kurtzman, Secretary of Administration, in a memo to the Governor on the subject, said:

"While the operations of the 1959-61 biennium were in balance, unfortunately the General Fund Deficit at the close of the biennium May 31, 1961 totaled $33,227,861.41."

Unquestionably, as Mr. Lawrence pointed out at his last press conference, the general economic decline of the period proved to be the main undoing factor just as much in Pennsylvania as elsewhere and in the personal family budgets.

However, it still remains a body-blow for the administration — which is well aware that anti-administration Republicans in the campaigns to come will be quite vocal on the promise and threat that was made — but couldn't be kept. The reasons "why" of course will become obscure and lost when the tides start.

It can be said, however, that of the past four biennial periods, the current deficit is the smallest of the lot as compared with the $66 million red ink figures at the end of the 1953-55 biennium, the $62.8 million deficit at the end of the 1955-57 biennium, and the $141.5 million sizzle at the end of the preceding 1957-59 biennium.

But if nothing else the deficit this time points up more boldly than ever before the need for the Keystone State to go on single year annual budgets rather than the old fashioned, cumbersome and completely unrealistic two-year budgets.

This year Pennsylvania's lawmakers for the first time have been fashioning a fiscal picture cut to the one-year cloth which in this area of spending of billions unquestionably is more practical, easier to handle, much simpler to cope with insofar as income and outgo are concerned, and obviously a more frequent re-in-pulling-up affair in general.

There is another difference though. The Lawrence Administration with its greater load than any administration before of professional brain-trusters, "fiscal experts" and holders of advanced college degrees would do well to produce by the end of this fiscal year in much more pinpointing fashion without "alibis" and "ifs" and "buts" — or there unquestionably will be some heavy boom lowering on the part of their political antagonists.

Smoke screens and diversionary tactics last only so long. Eventually the smoke blows away. The crucial test now is fiscal 1961-62!

The original "first nighter" of the Pocono Mountains threw her annual press party for news, radio and television folks Monday night at magnetic Mount Airy Hotel.

We are referring to Rowena Stevens, our first lady of the stage, who offers daily first-class entertainment to lovers of first-class performances.

Along with her sidekick —Dixie Lee — Rowena played the part of the perfect host by wining and dining the people from the news world. Following the session at Mount Airy, Miss Stevens had the "voices" of all the mediums as guests at Herbert Marshall's debut at the Playhouse in Mountain-home.

Miss Stevens did things up in the grand style her weekly shows indicated for the past 15 years. And of course, little Dixie, the gal with the big heart, gave out with the southern hospitality for which she is known from coast to coast.

Rowena is as big as her regular spectaculars, featuring the best material from stage, screen and television. Affable, sincere, Miss Stevens gives one the feeling of being wanted. By the turnout at Monday's feast she qualified as godmother to a good many "children."

Suzanne and Herman Martens, owners of Mount Airy, made their guests feel more at home than if they were home. Even a Cook's tour of the widespread resort phenomena was part of the too-short stay at the ultra-modern layout.

Suzanne made sure everyone felt at ease. Blended with "now over here is—" guides, Emil and Don Casnova, Mount Airy was focused to the attention of everyone within hearing distance.

Top billers, Rowena and Suzanne, showed a woman's touch is always needed to make a coming-out party a success.

There is little doubt that the Pocono Playhouse season, and Mount Airy's vacation year will not be successful—socially and financially.

The handwriting for a bright future was penned on the wall Monday evening when Miss Stevens and Mrs. Martens officially pulled down the surebet curtain to an oft-time cynical press.

About Town

—By Gene Brown

For your information:

The Richard Nixons are planning to build a $130,000 home in Beverly Hills, which is a lot more comfortable feeling than being wrong on Cuba.

The farm had been mortgaged and their life's savings had gone to give daughter a college education. Paw was driving the truck to the station to call for her after graduation. She climbed in beside him, slipped an arm through his, and whispered:

"I want to confess something. Paw, I ain't a little girl any more!"

Paw dropped his face in his hands and wept bitter tears.

"After all the sacrifice Paw and me made for your education," he sobbed, "you still say ain't."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Communist Dilemma

After 11 years, Justice Felix Frankfurter's decision settled the fact that the Communist Party is illegitimate in the United States. The decision upholds the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950.

When the Subversive Activities Control Board's order is fulfilled the position of the Communist Party and of an individual Communist will indeed be altered.

Many sanctions will be applied against Communists, such as they will be ineligible for government employment, they will be unable to hold or receive an American passport; they will not be permitted to work in defense facilities or receive defense information.

If they send any propaganda through the mails, they will have to mark it "Communist Propaganda."

In a word, the law not only outlaws the Communist Party but it makes of the individual Communist a pariah. While the Frankfurter decision upholds the law per se, it does not go into each detail of sanction. What the Communist lawyers face then is the problem of how to prevent this order from becoming final.

Under Supreme Court rules, the Communist Party has 25 days from June 5 to petition for a re-hearing. Now we come into red-tape complications. If the Court is in session on June 30, the period when application for a stay may be applied for, the petition for a stay operates as an automatic stay of judgment and there will be six months or more delay before the Internal Security Law can become operative.

If the Court is in summer recess on June 30, a motion for a re-hearing, no matter where filed, will not operate as an automatic stay. The Board's order then becomes final as soon as the Court issues its judgment and awards the case to the Circuit Court, which in normal course will be early in July.

The lawyers for the Communist Party have to decide what to do to save their members from the drastic sanctions of this law. Gus Hall, the leader of the Communist Party, said that the Frankfurter decision requires the Communist Party to commit suicide. He announced that the Party would soon ask for a stay and a re-hearing.

It is to be presumed that a 5-4 decision would continue against the Communists. Chief Justice Earl Warren voted in favor of the Communist Party. If Gus Hall's decision to petition for a re-hearing and stay is carried out shortly, it means that the Communist Party intends to manoeuvre the situation so that its leaders will have an opportunity to defy the Supreme Court and risk arrest for contempt.

At issue immediately would be the registration of the party and the filing of membership lists with the attorney-general. The Communists admit guilt by regarding the filing of lists as being stool pigeons.

From a tactful standpoint, the Communists would prefer a stay so that they might have an opportunity to organize fellow-traveler groups as well as doctrinaire liberals to demand that the Communists be given equality with Republicans or Democrats.

This would be of tremendous agitational value. During the Cold War, the Communists have lacked a cause as no one could support Khrushchev's imperialism. The Frankfurter decision gives them a cause.

The Communist Party, if it petitions for a stay immediately, will not have too much time for martyrdom, but if the Supreme Court sits until July 10, the matter can be heard and decided finally.

The Communist Party might take advantage of one more technicality. If the Supreme Court should recess before June 30, the Communist Party might, between the date of the recess of the court and June 30, find a justice who would be willing to frustrate the action of the court's majority by acting unilaterally to grant a stay pending a decision for a re-hearing.

It is difficult to believe that any justice would do that but it could happen, particularly as Chief Justice Earl Warren is so antagonistic to Justice Felix Frankfurter.

It is of tremendous interest that Justice Frankfurter should have become the leader of conservative thought on the Supreme Court bench. His position is strictly constitutional. The chief justice seems to be embarrassed by the presence of so superior a jurist as Felix Frankfurter among the brethren. It may yet turn out that those who for years were critical of Felix Frankfurter may have to apologize to him for their error of judgment.

Inside You And Yours

Dear Doctor

Dear Doctor: Is it possible to dissolve the fatty substance in the lining of arteries, once they are hardened?

MRS. C. S.

Dear Mrs. S: Nobody knows how to remove fatty cholesterol or hard calcium from the walls of hardened arteries.

Vegetable oil diets and special medicines can reduce the amount of fatty cholesterol flowing through your bloodstream. Some day the magic artery-softener will be found, but today we have to face these cold, hard facts!

Swelling Of Elbows

Dear Doctor: What would cause a fluid-filled swelling the size of an egg over my right elbow? Should I see a doctor?

Mr. V. M.

Dear Mr. M: Lining and elbow binding can trigger a tender, egg-sized bursitis on the backs of elbows. Cysts in front may stem from tendons linking bone and muscle. These cysts (ganglions) come and go painlessly.

After your doctor unscrambles the main ingredient in your egg-sized cyst, he'll know what to do!

Leukemia From Calcium?

Dear Doctor: Can too much calcium cause leukemia? Does the red of the yese show this disease?

Mrs. D. I.

Dear Mrs. I: While too much calcium may whip up the kidneys and eventually cause severe anemia (pale blood), calcium doesn't cause leukemia (cancer of the blood).

The red of the eyes tells mild and moderate from severe anemia. Almost colorless pink reflects severe anemia — practically no red blood cells.

Eye Trouble

Dear Doctor: I'm 43 and my vision is 20/20. Still, reading and close work blur, while I have no trouble viewing TV.

What's wrong?

Mrs. Y. R.

Dear Mrs. R: That 20/20 result doesn't mean that you're not far-sighted. Almost everybody becomes far-sighted when the eye lenses lose their elastic spring over the years. No longer can they thicken for close work.

Benjamin Franklin invented double-lens bifocals to solve this problem. And think of all the older subscribers he found for his magazine!

Sleeping Or Relaxing Pills

Dear Doctor: Is it harmful to take sleeping pills or relaxing pills while I'm expecting?

Mrs. R. D.

Dear Mrs. D: Ordinary doses are perfectly safe — and may even help if you're tense and sleepless.

Still no medicine should pass your lips without your doctor's O.K. He can't ease your way to the delivery room if you wander off and take pills he doesn't know about!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when the are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Congressional Quiz

Appropriations

By Congressional Quarterly

Many of the measures now being considered by Congress involve either the expenditure or collection of money by the Federal Government. This quiz tests your knowledge of the appropriation process. Try for four correct answers.

Q — True or false: Bills involving general appropriations and taxes can originate in either the House of Representatives or the Senate?

A — False. The Constitution requires that all bills for raising revenue must originate in the House. This has been interpreted to include appropriations bills as well as tax bills.

Q — The federal budget for each fiscal year is compiled by (a) the House Appropriations Committee; (b) the Bureau of the Budget; (c) Treasury Department?

A — (b). The Budget and Accounting Act of 1921 created the Bureau of the Budget and empowered it to assemble and correlate the estimates of the various departments and agencies.

Q — Preparation of a budget begins at least (a) one year; (b) 15 months; (c) 22 months before the beginning of the appropriate fiscal year?

A — (b). Preparation of a budget begins at least nine months before it is submitted to Congress in January for the fiscal year beginning the next July 1.

Q — What term is given to the operation whereby certain government programs use money borrowed from the Treasury, which obtained the money by selling bonds to the public?

A — "Backdoor spending" refers to such expenditures from public debt receipts. Many Congressmen have opposed this operation because the legislative branch has little opportunity for year-to-year supervision of Government spending.

Q — When a new President takes office he usually revises the budget submitted by the previous Administration. President Kennedy increased estimated expenditures for fiscal 1962 by (a) $1.2 billion; (b) $3.4 billion; (c) $5.8 billion.

A — (b). The Eisenhower Administration estimated expenditures to be $80.9 billion, while the Kennedy Administration put the estimate at $84.3 billion.

The House Of The Week

Extra Room Makes This Split Flexible

A WELL-placed "extra room," designed for flexibility, makes this handsome side-to-side split level one of the most versatile homes in the House-of-the-Week parade.

Architect Rudolph A. Matern put a 10 feet by 10 feet, two inches room directly inside the front entrance of B-70 for a variety of reasons.

"It would make an ideal professional office, with seclusion from the rest of the house and an abundance of storage space," says Matern, "and it also answers a common house buying problem: Selecting an adequate house without having an excess of space on the peak period of a family's growth."

"The room is perfect for a den or study or perhaps a guest room during the time a growing family needs only three bedrooms," he said.

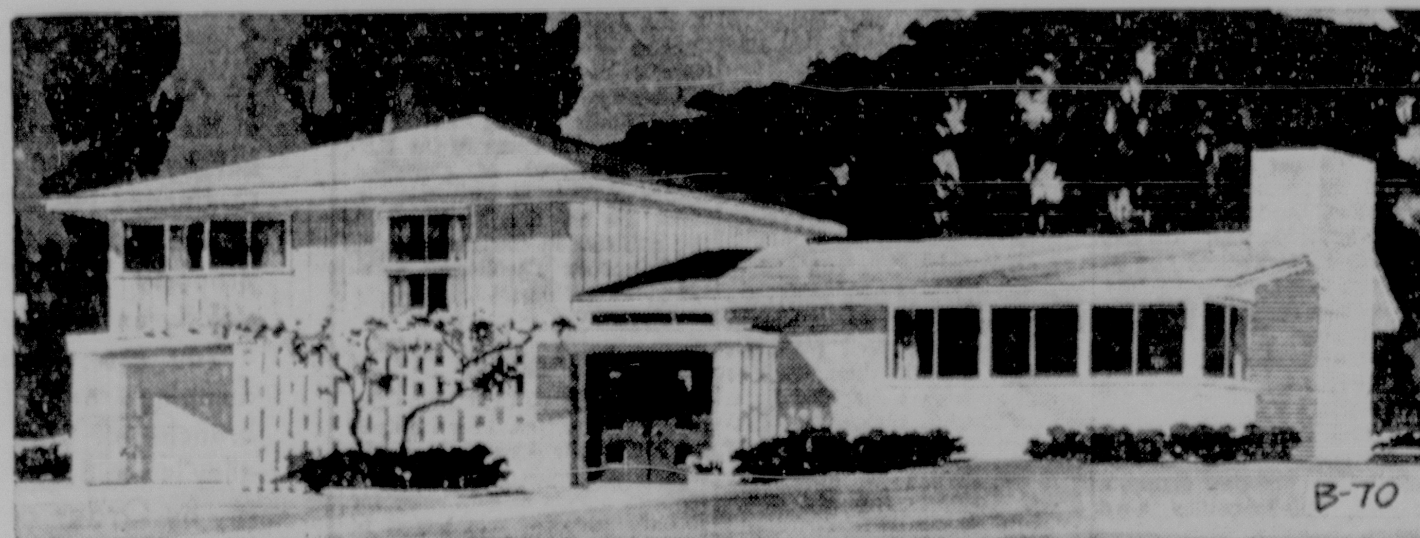

"It can become a fourth bedroom when one is needed, then be reconverted to its former use, or another use, in later years when there no longer is need for the fourth bedroom."

The rest of the house also is adaptable to daily needs—clearly zoned into formal and informal living areas.

The three bedrooms on the upper level are located in a "quiet zone" over the garage and lower-level bedroom, well away from the open-planned entertaining area—a 20 foot by 12 foot living room and 11 foot by 11 foot dining room which leads through sliding glass doors to a rear dining terrace.

A fireplace on the right living room wall rivals the dining terrace as an attention-getter, and a trellis with planters at the side of the stairs adds to the open effect of the breakfast balcony.

The exterior of B-70 features a splayed pierced masonry wall with conforming roof over the front walk from the garage to the main entrance. It helps break the height of the two-story section, blends one section with the other and, from an end view, relieves the box-like line. Hub of the house is the

ATTRACTIVE AND VERSATILE: A roofed walk from the garage over the front entrance breaks the height of the facade of this side-to-side split level, and integrates one section with the other. A pierced kitchen-family room area. It spans 28 feet of open space and leads through another set of sliding glass doors to an outdoor family room terrace. The basement stairway is off the family room, and the upper level stairway off the kitchen. A service entrance is adjacent to the kitchen.

Overlooking the family room (and terrace) is a circular breakfast balcony with wrought iron railing. The kitchen is between the dining room and breakfast balcony.

The living and bedroom levels total 1,286 square feet. The house is 52 feet, 10 inches wide and 25 feet, six inches deep exclusive of the garage offset.

Additional Details
Space conservation was a major aim of architect Matern in designing B-70. Minimum halls allow for maximum living area. The small hallway on the upper level provides access from all bedrooms to the large bathroom, which also is convenient to the living level.

The main bathroom has a tub, stall shower, double lavatories and a towel cabinet. The bath on the entrance level, also equipped with a shower, is located off the mudroom and laundry and is handy for children playing in the backyard, family room or terrace.

Closets are adequate throughout. The mudroom contains a special closet for outdoor gear, and the garage has a separate storage closet. There also is a large double closet placed conveniently in the upper foyer, thus eliminating front-door congestion. See order coupon at bottom of page.

B-70 Statistics
Compact side-to-side split level has three bedrooms and features versatile 10 by 11 feet, eight inches extra room on entrance level which can become fourth bedroom. There are bathrooms on both bedroom and entrance levels.

Entrance level has 310 square feet for total of 1,286 square feet on living and bedroom levels. Basement is under living area. House is 52 feet, six inches wide by 25 feet, six inches deep. Curved breakfast balcony off kitchen overlooks family room and rear terrace.

concrete grille dramatizes the effect. House has three bedrooms plus a "bonus" room, which could be fourth bedroom.

FLOOR PLANS: Splayed walls give added interest to layout of this space-conserving split level. Note private access to entrance level fourth bedroom, making it equally adaptable for use as a professional office.

EXTERIOR LATEX

More and more reputable paint companies will be offering quality latex house paints this spring and summer. Like the familiar interior latexes, these paints are thinned with water, are odorless, dry in an hour or less, and tools and spills and splatters are cleaned with plain water. Be sure that you follow the manufacturer's instructions to THE LETTER as to the type of primer that must be used with the particular brand you buy. If you ignore these instructions, these excellent paints will not do the job they are formulated to do.

PAINT FOR GALVANIZED STEEL

Galvanized steel is painted most successfully when the proper primer is used. Highly recommended is a type known as zinc dust-zinc oxide paint, also called metallic zinc paint. If this cannot be obtained, use a primer which is described by its maker as being suitable for galvanized metal. The topcoat can be any paint suitable for the exposure.

BESIDES enhancing the decorating scheme, louver doors between rooms help home air conditioning systems work more efficiently. The louvers permit cooled air to circulate freely from room to room.

SALES VALUE UPPED

The "saleability" as well as the cash resale value of a house goes up automatically when a built-in electric dishwasher is installed.

FEW improvements as inexpensive as a wooden fence can add as much pure charm to what otherwise might be considered an ordinary house.

It doesn't change the house, any more than a frame changes a picture, but it adds a picturesque touch as well as an air of individuality. For the do-it-yourselfer, a wooden fence is a project which can be handled in stride, usually over a weekend.

All fences utilize two essential components — horizontal members, known as stringers or rails, and vertical members, known as posts, boards or pickets. While the picket fence is the most common type, others are basket-weave, stockade, board-on-board, zig-zag and similar patterns that take advantage not only of the wide variety of shapes but of the natural grain of wood for the creation of unusual effects.

The fancier fence materials cost a little more, because the lumber dealer must cut the components to order. The horizontal and verticals needed for picket fences and some types of board fences are usually carried in stock. They are available in standard lengths and widths, in four or five different patterns. Incidentally, when buying the lumber, get a supply of non-rusting nails and rent, borrow or purchase a posthole digger.

Before starting work, be sure to determine from local authorities whether a permit is needed and what regulations, if any, must be followed. And, of course, be 100 per cent certain you know where your property line is located.

The best way to lay out a fence is with stakes, made from one-by-one scrap lumber six inches long, and mason's twine or fish line. Use the posthole digger to make the holes for the vertical framing. As a rule, posts are located five to 10 feet apart, depending on the type of fencing, and the holes are dug to a depth of two or three feet. The posts should be heartwood of a naturally durable species or chemically treated wood. Well-tamped earth around the post usually provides a firm base, but where the soil is very soft or yielding, a concrete base may be needed. A simple and easy way to provide a firm base is to mix the packing soil with a small quantity of portland cement before tamping the hole. When the hole is almost filled, add a small amount of water.

The posts should be checked for "plumb" with a carpenter's level and temporarily braced until firmly set. Afterwards, finish filling the holes, packing down the loose soil firmly. Some persons prefer to paint or stain the fence after it is completed. We have found it easier to paint the posts and other components before the installation. Be sure to use a good quality exterior paint. If you apply at least three coats, you'll get a result that will last for years.

Aspirants For Miss Pocono Title

SANDRA Trethaway, daughter of Chief of Police and Mrs. John B. Trethaway, of Stroudsburg, Emma Jean Dailey of Tobyhanna, and Carol Jane Raub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Raub Sr. of Easton, will be seeking the "Miss Pocono Mountains" crown when the contest for that honor will be staged next Tuesday in the Sherman Theater in Stroudsburg.

Sandra Trethaway recently won the Arion Award which is given to a senior at the annual band concert at Stroud Union High School. She enjoys music and was in both band and chorus at school, including dance band, band ensemble, choir, girls' ensemble and the Mountaineers.

Miss Trethaway is presently employed at the local Bell telephone company and has been accepted at East Stroudsburg State College for the coming session. She measures 35-25-36, weighs 115 pounds, stands 5' 3" tall, has dark brown hair, brown eyes with fair complexion and wears a size nine dress.

Miss Emma Jean Dailey will compete for the coveted title with more than a dozen attractive young women from the Pocono area. Miss Dailey was recently selected as a finalist in a nationwide "Image of a Girl" contest.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dailey and a student at Churchman's Business College, Easton.

She has brown hair, brown eyes, fair complexion and measures 34-23-35. Emma Jean wears a size nine dress, weighs 115 pounds and stands 5' 4" tall. Her hobbies include dancing, singing, and modeling.

"To be Miss Pocono Mountains would be an honor and a valuable opportunity," said Miss Dailey when recently interviewed.

Carol Raub, Miss Milkmaid of 1960, will seek the Miss Pocono Mountains title this year and says one of her favorite hobbies is hiking in the Poconos where her parents maintain a summer home. She is a graduate of Wilson High School and plans to become a private secretary. Her brown hair and brown eyes, combined with fair complexion makes her a very attractive young woman. Weighing 140 pounds, Miss Raub measures 34-26-36, is 5' 8" tall, and wears a size eleven dress. She is fond of boating, farming, dancing.

Two Deeds Are Filed

New Drive On Reds

MANILA (AP)—Philippine constabulary troops, using trained dogs, launched a new drive against Communist-led Huk rebel forces Tuesday. The operation is aimed at wiping out isolated Huk bands in the Mabalacat Magalang area in Pampanga Province, about 55 miles northwest of Manila.

Get Polio Vaccine

TOKYO (AP)—Enough polio vaccine for 50,000 persons was presented to the Japanese Welfare Ministry Tuesday by Sohyo, the big leftist-dominated labor confederation. The Soviet Union gave the vaccine to Sohyo. A polio outbreak in Japan reportedly has caused a shortage of vaccine from the United States.

College:
Will the money be ready
when he is?

Even if your child is in the 8th, 9th, or 10th grade, Prudential's new College Education Plan (CEP) makes it possible for you — through reasonable monthly premiums — to help guarantee the money for his college education. Prudential's CEP, developed in cooperation with leading banks, is available in $1,000 steps from a minimum of $2,000 up to $12,000 in most states. It brings you two checks a year for four years. Eliminates the burden of large cash outlays each time college bills come up. What's more, by providing insurance on the father's life, it guarantees the full amount of the plan — if he is here or not. The man to see about CEP is the Prudential Agent.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Cool and detached criticism is a sign of mature judgment, I suppose, but it's a quality I've never been able to cultivate. Be it a play, a club program or project, a wedding or birthday party, or the Laurel Blossom Festival I get as emotionally involved as if it were my own affair.

Which is why after the play at the Playhouse on Monday night, when I rounded a corner unexpectedly and bumped into Herbert Marshall, I was still so deeply in the mood of the play that I bowed as formally as any of his Japanese household and echoed one of his own lines: "Likewise!" Although I suppose he's used to kookie reactions by now.

And why when Sally Ferrebee and the Princesses cried at parting, I was all set to get damp, too, until I reminded myself I'd only seen them four times altogether. But even in those four times I learned an amazing lot of things about them. Brenda Lee Birkner who knew my Nan at Cedar Crest; Martha Gallagher of Syracuse who wants to be a journalist; Nancy Vredey of Wilson, who is going to Europe this summer; Carole Whalen, of Kutztown State, who is Byron French's niece.

Not to mention how Suzanne Wilson of Hood College felt auditioning for Fred Waring yesterday or the two Princesses who got themselves summer jobs in the Poconos.

Imagine how close Sally must have felt to them, with all of them vowing she'd been the most glamorous housemother they'd ever had. Well, there's one thing about all my vicarious living: It leaves me little room to suffer over my own affairs—and, boy, does my ironing basket show it!

But speaking of cool—if you go to the Playhouse, take your sweater, no matter how blistering it is at home. The Playhouse is cool, cool, man.

Music Recital By Pupils At Barrett Church

Barrett — Sketches of musical impressions will be featured with the performances of the music pupils of Mrs. Warren Miller at the Mountaintop Methodist Church Wednesday night, June 14.

The youngest pupils, five years old will open the 7:30 p.m. program by playing the medleys of nursery songs. Pamela Miller and Janet Melton are the openers.

Michael Stiff will play three selections, topped off by "Tom-Tom."

Beth Eichman will play solo, and then, joined by her brother, David, will play "Cradle Song." Sonia Melnikoff will present an arrangement by Tschakowsky called "March Slave."

"Dy A Broom" is a specialty number to be performed by David and Beth Eichman and Sonia Melnikoff.

Sybil Melton has chosen Khachaturian's "Sabre Dance" among her selections.

The old favorite of youngsters: "Rueben and Rachel" is in the hands of Charles Born. He is joined by David Eichman to present "The King Of Love My Shepherd Is."

David pulls up a piano bench and offers a solo of the canal boat drivers' "Erie Canal."

"Country Dance" is a collaboration by Diane Blitz and Holly Thomas. Shades of the Lone Ranger appear as Alexis Melnikoff plays the overture from "William Tell."

Diane Blitz solos with "Blue Danube" among her offerings. Janet and Sybil Melton offer "March of the Gingerbread" and "In A Wigwam."

Tschakowsky is a popular fellow with this class, Elizabeth Serfas and Holly Thomas double up on his "Waltz of the Flowers."

"Hawaiian Love Song" and "Dangerous Journey" are listed for Linda Erwin. Alexis Melnikoff joins Linda for "The Sparrow Parade."

Holly Thomas plays alone, presenting "Cossacks" and "Dance Macabre."

"Teddy Bear Picnic" is on the menu by Maureen Conley. Diana Reinhardt joins her for "Shadows in The Night." And, Diana presents "Whirling Leaves" and "Feathery Fog" for her weather report.

Thomas Conley tells a tale of the sea with "Sailor's Song." Mark Mikels joins the band for "Sempre Fidelis" and solos with "Fur Elise."

"Tarantella" rhythms are put forth by Nancy Keller, and the rhythm doesn't let down "In A Gypsy Camp."

Nancy and Joy Keller bring back the stately "Minuet In G."

FOND FAREWELLS to the 1961 Laurel Blossom Princesses marked the luncheon held yesterday at Shawnee Inn. ## Laurel Blossom Princesses Close 1961 Festival With Farewell Luncheon

Shawnee-on-Delaware — Smiling through sentimental tears the Queen of the 1961 Laurel Blossom Festival and the eighteen pretty girls who were Laurel Blossom Princesses left the Poconos following the farewell luncheon at Shawnee Inn yesterday afternoon.

Tangible tokens of their stay were the charm bracelets presented to them by Sally Ferrebee, director for the Laurel Blossom committee. Each bracelet bore two charms symbolic of the individual aspirations and interests of each of the princesses, each of whom also received a scrap book to record the events of a week which began last Thursday.

Since the public coronation on Saturday afternoon, the princesses have had a barbecue luncheon at Bushkill Falls, a motor tour to Lake Wallenpaupack; tea at Skytop; and dinner at Split Rock Lodge on Sunday; a picnic on Big Pocono, hosted by Skyline Inn; and a progressive dinner at the Fernwood, Tamiment and Vacation Valley on Monday.

William Altier, president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau which sponsored the festival, gave the farewell message to the girls and his appreciation to their hosts and others who had made the third revival of the Laurel Blossom Festival such a success.

Rev. Luther Markin gave the invocation at the luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waring, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sweet and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grant as hosts; Mr. and Mrs. Altier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ahner, Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Koehler, David Gothe and Bobby Westbrook as guests.

Barbara Jane Clark, host princess from East Stroudsburg State College presented Mrs. Ferrebee with a bouquet of roses from the girls. Barbara, whose home is in Philadelphia, was a guest at High Point Inn. Also at High Point was Miss Martha Kemper of Rocky River, Ohio, from Centenary College.

Queen Faith Gooden Cook of the University of Delaware and a resident of Odessa, Del., was a guest at Shawnee Inn with Gloria Barton, Miss Penn State, of Union, N.J.

Other princesses, their schools, homes and the hotels at which they were guests included: Nancy Annable, of Flushing, N.Y., Elmira College, at Pocono Manor Inn with Cheryl Chadbourne, Minneapolis, representing Cornell University;

Brenda Lee Birkner, Paterson, N.J., of Cedar Crest College and Nancy Kunzman of Garden City, N.Y., University of Pennsylvania, both at The Inn at Buck Hill Falls;

Esther Bottone, Hempstead, N.Y., Marywood; and Patricia Wolcanski, Perth Amboy, N.J., Montclair State Teachers, both at Pocono Mountain Inn;

Carol Lee Emhardt, Oreland, Muhlenberg College; Martha Gallagher, Wilkes-Barre, Syracuse University, Carole Whalen, Levittown, Kutztown State College, all at Onawa Lodge;

Marlene Harris, Takoma Park, Md., University of Maryland; and Suzanne Jane Williams, Altoona, Hood College, both at Vacation Valley;

Mary Priemer, Phillipsburg, N.J., Moravian College; Linda Kreithen, Philadelphia, Temple both at Skyline Inn; and Dorothy Updegraff, Williamsport, Bloomsburg State College; and Nancy Vredey, East Liverpool, Ohio, Wilson College, at Hawthorne Inn.

Mrs. Gorman Heads Aux. Of Hospital

Mrs. William Gorman was elected president of the General Hospital Aux. at their meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Adolph Rake with Mrs. Helen Hansen as host.

Mrs. George Marsh presided at the meeting when Miss Iris Higgins reported on progress on the Antique Show to be held Aug. 9, 10 and 11.

New members welcomed included Mrs. Joseph McDowd, Mrs. Kenneth Crowthers, Mrs. Harold Crossdale and Miss Evelyn Saxon.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Vernon Ellenberger, second vice president; Mrs. Helen Hansen, secretary. Mrs. Carl Wagner was named to fill a vacancy on the advisory board.

The next meeting will be held at the summer home of Mrs. Fred Davis and will feature a covered dish.

Hostesses were Mrs. T. J. Breitwieser, Mrs. Ruth Decker, Mrs. Carl Wagner, Mrs. Grady Moore, Mrs. Nathan Meyer and Mrs. Hansen.

PO of A. Reception

A reception honoring the new district Patriotic Order of Americans president, Mrs. Grace Miller, and to the state sentinel, Mrs. Eunice Fenner, will mark the meeting of local Camp 289, Stroudsburg, on Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Women Democrats

The Women's Democratic Club will hold a covered dish supper tonight at 6:30 at Alvin DeWitt's Winona Falls House on Route 209. Members are asked to bring their own table service.

Women of Moose

The Women of the Moose will hold a party tonight at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Fox, 345 Monroe St., East Stroudsburg, at 7:30. The public is invited.

Marriage Announced

Miss Patricia Elaine Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Mr. Lee Hammerstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dunlap of Henryville on Friday night, May 26.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the double-ring ceremony at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of nylon sheer over taffeta. Her veil was held by a tiny pill box cap of English silk trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible with white rosebuds and streamers.

Mrs. Lester Miller, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Donald Dunlap was best man. A reception for the immediate family was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses were applied for yesterday from N. Henry Fenner, Monroe County clerk of orphans' court, by Carl E. Slutter, Scotrun, and Genevieve Sandra Brush, Stroudsburg, and Eldon L. Waters and Harriet Joan Wolslayer, both of Maricao, Ariz.

by Beethoven and then have a "Haymaker's Frolic" and then give equal time, Joy plays Padewski's "Minuet In G."

Donna Jones has a "Scarf Dance," and has Laurence Mikels join her in "Intermezzo." Laurence Mikels plays the "Second Valse" solo.

Margaret Jennett performs "Rondo Capriccio" and then joins Mrs. Miller for the "Concerto in G Minor" by Mendelssohn, to close the program.

Quig Pupils In Recital On Friday

A music recital starring some 40 pupils of Mrs. Fred Quig will present a recital on the theme, "Camping Days" which promise a number of surprises, on Friday night.

In addition to solo and duo numbers, there will be selections by three bands.

The public is invited to the musical to be held at 7:30 in the Zion United Church of Christ, North Eighth St., Stroudsburg.

A silver offering will be used for the organ fund of the church.

Progressive Club Board Entertained

Saylorsburg — Members of the executive board of the Progressive Woman's Club were entertained at a luncheon at Greenview Farms with Mrs. Karlene Muddell, president, as their hostess.

Plans were completed for the annual banquet to be held tonight at 6:30 at Varkony's when Mrs. Raymond Todd of Allentown will entertain. The committees include: arrangements and decorations, Mrs. William Fisher, chairman; Mrs. Kathryn Jones, Mrs. Louis Stoen, Mrs. Charles Arnold and Mrs. Dorothy Budger; hospitality, Mrs. Paul Russell and Mrs. Thomas Trach, co-chairmen; Mrs. Leon Keller, Mrs. Robert Arner, Mrs. Oscar Bonser, Mrs. George Metzger Jr., Mrs. George Budger, Mrs. Robert Rinker and Mrs. Henry Hoffman.

Community Gifts — At the board meeting, the group voted to give $100 for a complete book shelf for the Pleasant Valley Joint School and $50 for the Hamilton Elementary School to use at their discretion. Another $25 will be donated to the West End Ambulance Assn.

Mrs. Betty Metzger and Mrs. Ann Trach were named to take charge of a birthday party for guests at the County Home.

Board members present included Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman, Mrs. Pearl Altomose, Mrs. Mary Van Bockirk, Mrs. Kate Jones, Mrs. Antoinette Vianello, Mrs. Ann Trach, Mrs. Leon Keller, Mrs. Harvey Heller, Mrs. Anna Serfas, Mrs. Marion Mackes, Mrs. Ruth Davenport and Mrs. Ella Shupp.

Mrs. Kreller presented a purse to Mrs. Muddell as a gift of appreciation from the board members.

Historical Tour This Saturday

The Historical Tour, sponsored by the Monroe County Historical Society, will be held on Saturday through New York State, highlighted by stops at Museum Village, Smith's Clove; the historical society museum at Newburgh, N. Y., and Goshen's.

Luncheon will be held at a restaurant south of Smith's Clove.

There are still some seats available on the buses, and reservations or further information about the trip may be obtained by calling Mrs. James Canfield HA 1-5516; Mrs. Robert Haigh HA 1-7260; Mrs. Horace Walters HA 1-6107.

Garden Authority Will Speak

The speaker at the Monroe County Garden Club's annual luncheon on Thursday at Mountain Lake House will be Anne Wertsner Wood, of Swarthmore, lecturer, writer and horticulturist.

A graduate of the School of Horticulture, Ambler, Mrs. Wood has done further work at Pennsylvania State College and Cornell University and has traveled abroad gathering material.

Creator of many famous gardens, she has served as head of the floriculture department of the school of horticulture and field secretary of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society when she staged all of its flower shows.

She has contributed material for the first handbook of Judging Schools and has authored other books covering staging, exhibiting and judging flower shows. She has contributed to many national magazines.

In 1958, Mrs. Wood received the Gold Medal award of the Men's Garden Club of New York for her work in horticulture. She served as the only woman on the American Committee for the United States exhibit in "Florida," Holland and in 1961 received a bronze medal for her work in connection with Florida.

The Wyckoff Shopper

The friendly store

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

When I arrived at the store Monday morning after the broadcast, I found Mr. Wyckoff, looking rested and happy, in the jewelry department. "Did you see all these lovely things from Korea?" he called to me. "Come here and take a look, then tell all the folks about them."

SOOOO, I took a look . . . a second and third . . . and now I AM telling you, for they are really worth your attention. Mr. Wyckoff's purchase fills quite a few sizeable boxes and is a very varied and attractive jewelry collection. Each piece is an authentic Korean design, and most are symbolic. Molded of brass are characters, Oriental in nature, that represent Fortune, Riches, Happiness, and so forth. There are also designs of realistic nature . . . a Korean flower, for example, or a butterfly.

The prices are very reasonable. There are pendants with chain, also hair ornaments, priced as low as 1.50. Other pendants are 1.69, 2.00, and 3.98, and there are pendant and earring sets at 3.98, and a big pin at 5.00. Some of the pendants are really quite sizeable, and remind me a bit of the breastplate a Roman soldier might have worn. They are strikingly different, and fit with perfect precision into the jigsaw of American fashion outlined for this Fall and Winter. Be sure to see them.

Because of their Oriental flavor, I have also drawn these trinkets to the attention of Phyllis Rubin, who always accessories the Israeli part of the Hadassah-Wyckoff show so dramatically and effectively. Incidentally, that show is WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21st, at beautiful Tamiment, beginning at 8:30. This show is a very inexpensive way to pass an exciting and pleasant evening: 1.50 for the tickets, 3.00 for a couple—and this includes refreshments, favors, a possible door prize, and dancing. Dinner reservations for the very splendid dinner preceding the show may also be made, at 3.50 per person, with either Mrs. Max Fleishman or Mrs. Sumar Schwartz. Service will be at 6:30. Those who wish to attend the show only may, of course, do so. Either way, EVERYONE is more than welcome, and I would be most happy to see you.

Which reminds me—I have an answer to all those who say, "I like shopping in New York—selections are so much larger. Why, you can get ANYTHING in New York."

Last Friday, I was in New York and decided to purchase a pair of turquoise gloves. We had none in stock and I had been told they are hard to come by. But I had faith that I could indeed find them in New York because, as I've so often heard, "you can buy ANYTHING in New York."

I was optimistic as I began the rounds; weary when I was through. Turquoise gloves? No. Ruby gloves I'm sorry. Hunter green gloves? Perhaps later. At Best and Co., I found one pair of dark turquoise gloves, and while I wasn't positive the color was just right, I grabbed them eagerly, knowing they'd be stunning with basic black or navy. So now I'm home. And you know what may still happen? I shall probably buy a pair of white cotton gloves at Wyckoff's and have them dyed . . . and, in this temperature, I shall probably explode into little pieces if ANYONE dares say to me, "Why didn't you try in New York? They have such big selections, you can buy ANYTHING there."

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY RECORD

Mum's The Word, Honey

Dear Abby: I am a 35-year-old widow. Until very recently I was dating a nice widower. He gave me a big rush and some lovely gifts. I was expecting him to propose and I really grew to like him. Then he told me he wouldn't think of marrying me until he was sure we were "compatible" in every way. You know what I mean. Naturally, when he found out he couldn't get what he wanted, he stopped seeing me. I felt so hurt to think he was like all the rest.

I had praised him to all my friends, and now the question is, what can I tell my friends when they ask why we aren't going to get any more? HURT AND DISAPPOINTED

Dear Hurt: Real friends not embarrass you with such a cruel question. To the others, simply reply, "All is fair in love and war, and this is a military secret."

Dear Abby: My little five-year-old boy is deathly afraid of dogs and cats. I can't understand how he got this way, but it is getting to be a terrible problem. He refuses to stay outside alone for fear a dog (even a small one) or a cat will come near him. When I take him downtown and he sees a dog or cat, he screams so loud people run out of the stores and even stop their automobiles to see who is being murdered. I have to pick him up and carry him until the animal is out of sight. I didn't mind when he was smaller, but he is too heavy for me to carry now. What shall I do, Abby? He is driving me crazy. UPSET MOTHER

Dear Mother: Take your son to a pet shop where he can see the new-born kittens and the tiny puppies. When he becomes more familiar with these animals, he will realize there is nothing to fear. He probably was terrified by an animal when he was very young, and must now be helped to overcome his fright.

Dear Abby: I'm 13, but am very mature for my age. I have been going with boys since I was 12, but my parents will not let me go out with boys in uniform. I think this is very unfair, and would like to have you tell them so in your column. Thank you. MATURED 13

Dear Matured: You may be "mature for your age," but in my opinion a 13-year-old girl is too young to be going with boys in or out of uniform.

Dear Abby: I am Spanish

Motorcyclist Dies In Crash

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — A head-on collision of a motorcycle and a light truck near Altoona Tuesday killed a 41-year-old Blair County man.

John A. Noffske, the motorcyclist, of Altoona, was dead on arrival at Altoona Hospital. He was employed as a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

State police said Noffske's motorcycle smashed into the truck traveling in the opposite direction as it attempted to make a left turn across the highway.

and the custom of my country is to wear the flower stems up when the girl is single. That means she is "looking." When the girl is married, she wears her corsage stem down, with the flowers "looking up."

GOP Alliance Rejects Fusion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Republican Alliance rejected yesterday a proposal to unite for the November election with the regular Republican party.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, chairman of the alliance, said such a move is neither "necessary or desirable in the best interests of the Republican party in Philadelphia."

The alliance was formed to revitalize the city's party organization through new leadership and other means. Dr. Johnson, who is Pennsylvania's Republican national committeeman, replied by letter to the unity proposal, which was made over the weekend by Wilbur Hamilton, city party chairman.

Children's Day Observed At Portland Presbyterian

CHILDREN'S Day was observed in the Portland Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning.

"Melody in F" was the prelude played by Robert Taylor on the trumpet and accompanied by Mrs. Walter Emery on the piano.

"His World" was sung by the Junior Choir, composed of Carline Altomose, Cynthia Singer, Judy Gardner, Robert Taylor, Cassandra Kurts, Patricia Cramer, Robert Stack, Pamela Reimer, Mary Encke, Patricia Hughes, Marjorie Stille, Curt Reimer, Denise Nangle, Kay Miller, Lorraine Singer, Les Cramer, Gary Hochrein, Jeffrey Hamill, and Blaine Hahn.

Scriptures were read by James Young, and Henry Hochrein read the prayer. Patricia Cramer and Patricia Hughes soloed in a Junior choir version of "When Dawn is Breaking."

Private School Transportation

HARRISBURG — The House Rules Committee Monday approved publicly supported school transportation for private school children.

The bill is expected to be hurried in the Appropriations Committee. It is sponsored by a group of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Democrats.

It would require any school board supplying transportation for public school children to do the same for a private school, but not if the private school is operating for a profit.
